

JHOMOLHARI TREK

This Jhomolhari Trek is one of the most popular treks and a favourite with trekkers. It is a truly amazing trek amidst the beauty of the Himalayas that leaves one with an everlasting sense of satisfaction and fulfilment. The trek starts from the ruins of Drugyal Dzong, following a river at 2500 meters to an altitude of 4820 meters at Yalila Pass. The route takes you through narrow cultivated valleys to wide open yak pastures, across high passes to closed-in winding river valleys, through villages and old ruins of dzongs to yak herders camps, from high alpine mountains to semi-tropical forests. Catch stunning views of the high ridges and snow-capped peaks, of crashing rivers, feeder streams and waterfalls, of the majestic grandeur of Mount Jomolhari and Tserim Kang and its glaciers. Day halt at Linghi takes you on an excursion to Tsokha, the base camp of Mount Jichu Drake. From Paro to Lingshi, from Shodu to Dolam Kencho, the trek has an incredible array of attractions that leaves one humbled and amazed by the beauty and wealth of both the Himalayas and the magical Kingdom of Bhutan.
