Tour Description

overview

Poon Hill located in the Annapurna region of Nepal, is a renowned trekking destination that offers breathtaking panoramic views of some of the world's highest peaks, including Annapurna, Dhaulagiri, Machapuchre and Manaslu. Situated in an altitude of 3,210 meters (10,531 feet), it is a relatively short and accessible trek, making it popular among trekkers of various skill levels. The trek typically starts from lakeside of Pokhara and winds through lush forests, charming Gurung villages and terraced hillsides. The highlight of the journey is reaching the summit of Poon Hill before dawn to witness a mesmerizing sunrise over the snow-capped peaks, painting the sky with hues of orange and pink. The panoramic vista from Poon Hill is a photographer's delight and cherished memory of trekkers, making it a must-visit destination for those seeking natural beauty and adventure in the Himalayas.
